This video is a part of Season 1, Episode 7 from WestWorld, « Trompe-l'oeil ».

In this scene, we can see two important characters of this serie, William and Dolores.

William is engaged to marry his fiancée, Juliet, and that is why initially resisted the advances of both the greater robot Angele and the prostitute host Clementine. (« I have somebody, somebody real, waiting me at home »).

Juliet is more than just his fiancée : William worked for her father-in-law and her brother Logan.

The first time they kissed, Dolores took William by surprise. He told about this fiancée (« I have a life waiting for me ») but he soon succumbed of his feeling for Dolores after she seemed hurt by this news.

In the real world, William decided, he had been protending ; with Dolores, he is finally himself. But Dolores says « I am not a key. I am me. ». Indeed, Dolores is a robot but is developping some human fellings and is looking for her personnalitiy. She says also she is discoverins new feelings in her paintings. For the two characters, the park works as a developer of personnalities and feelings.
